

Rafael Daminelli

Deployment Extra Credit

Deployment is done after testing and when the application is ready for the final user.

Deployment is part of the integration step in software development, and usually is part of the DevOps responsibility.

Some deployment host options include: Heroku, Glitch, Digital Ocean, and AWS.

Deployment makes the code built locally by developers accessible to clients via a host server outside the local machine.

